RAILROAD SEEKS TO CHANGE CROSSING GATES HERE

Mother returns from work to find husband, daughter dead of poisoning

Inquest continued pending naming of lethal dose

A coroner's inquest Monday morning postponed final decision on the deaths of Joseph Klinka and his 21 month old daughter Noreen, until Oct. 28 when the county coroner's office will be able to reveal the type of poison used in the deaths.

THEN I noticed the cup and nursing bottle," she related at the inquest, "and went to pick up my baby. Her body was limp and her head and arms fell back as I lifted her from the bed."

She immediately called police. Officers Bauer and Jahnke answered the call, found her sobbing hysterically on the living room couch, the baby's body nearby. They called for the fire department inhalator squad to work on the bodies not yet stiffened by rigor mortis. Doctors Elfeld and Meisenheimer also were called, and pronounced the two dead.

Chief Skoog checked the medicine cabinet and furnace and found everything in order and searched the house for traces of poison. There were no notes in the bedroom or the house.

A check with Arlington Sheet Metal company revealed that cyanide was used by electroplaters in cleaning silver, and could be obtained in crystal or liquid form.

Klinka had worked as an electroplater at the Keystone plant, 4329 W. Kinsey, Chicago, for 16 years, and a check with the company revealed he had not lost his job.

One man was held over for further examination.

Of the 30 men rejected, 22 failed the physical and eight could not pass the mental test.

The high percentage of rejections was expected, as nearly all of the men had been of draft age during the war and had been classified 4-F.

Colonel Paul G. Armstrong, director of selective service for the state of Illinois announced this week Illinois has received a call from Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, for 882 men for delivery during the month of December, 1948.

According to Mrs. Klinka and Szydowski, Klinka worked every Saturday but told his father-in-law he would not work this Saturday because "things were slack." Szydowski, however, told the coroner Klinka arose at 6:30 a.m. as usual Saturday and at 8 a.m. telephoned he would not come to work.

They had breakfast and Klinka gave the child a bottle of warm tea of which she was fond.

ACCORDING TO his wife, Klinka was deeply fond of his baby daughter and the two often played together when he was home. The family was home Friday night, and Klinka and the child took Mrs. Klinka to the 7:30 p.m. train to the loop.

Mrs. Klinka testified he told her "I'll see you tomorrow," and told the baby to "kiss your mother goodbye."

Funeral services for Klinka and the child were held Thursday at 10 a.m. from St. Mary's Angels church, Courtland and Hermitage, Chicago, with Father Przewinski officiating. Burial was in St. Adalbert cemetery, Niles Center.

Joe Szydowski, 2706 West Evergreen, Chicago, brother of Mrs. Klinka, also testified at the inquest. Other survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Klinka Sr., of Chicago; two sisters, Mrs. Delores Fahlgren and Mrs. Jean Doray, of Chicago, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Norma Szydowski, of Chicago.

NO APPARENT motive for the two deaths could be reached at the Monday session. Mrs. Klinka, 31, testifying before Deputy Coroner Edward Edelstein, claimed Klinka and the child were in good health, and discounted financial or marital troubles as motives.

"I can't think of any reason for the deaths," she sobbed to the coroner. "We were too happy. There just wasn't any reason."

She claimed her husband never touched liquor. The family owned their home and had purchased a lot north of the residence on which they intended to build another house. They had bought a new automobile in Sept., had begun redecorating the upstairs of the present house and were ready to install a new kitchen stove.

The Klinkas, married 12 years, have lived in Arlington Heights since June, 1944, during which time her father, Adam Szydowski, lived with them.

Saturday morning Klinka told his father-in-law to meet Mrs. Klinka who was coming into Arlington Heights on the 8:45 a.m. train and to help her carry groceries home. He left the house at 8:15 a.m.

X-Ray Will Show Bronchiectasis
by SIEBURG DRUG CO., Inc.

This ailment is caused by a swelling and congestion of the bronchial tubes, and lungs. Persons suffering from bronchiectasis often have an annoying cough and bring up large quantities of mucus.

With the new developments in X-ray, it is possible for a doctor to distinguish this condition from other bronchial and lung diseases, and thus treatment is more direct and effective.

Your doctor may find a lung or bronchial condition that you believe to be just a persistent cough. Early diagnosis means early recovery.

Medicine as recommended by your physician is invaluable in treatment if it is skillfully compounded.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 10, 1948, was:

"ARE SIN, DISEASE, AND DEATH REAL?"

The Golden Text was:

"O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me" (Ps. 30:2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible:

"And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good... Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men (Gen. 1:31; Ps. 31:19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Sin, sickness, and death have no record in the Elohistic introduction of Genesis, in which God creates the heaven, earth, and man... Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make,—hence its unreality... God is not the author of mortal discords. Therefore we accept the conclusion that discords have only a fabulous existence, are mortal beliefs which divide Truth and Love destroy" (pp. 538, 525, 231).

Women of Moose hold Mooseheart night

The four one-day schools of politics to be conducted by the Republican women of the country towns of Cook county October 19 at the Homewood civic center in Homewood and the Des Plaines field house in Des Plaines offer an opportunity to women voters to be well informed on many issues when they go to the polls November 2.

Among the speakers will be State Representative Noble W. Lee, Republican 5th district. He will talk on the "Schools of Illinois" bringing into the discussion the controversial issue of Federal Aid to Education. Mr. Lee is the Dean of the John Marshall Law School and ably equipped to discuss his subject.

The Taft-Hartley Law will be discussed by Charles F. Wills, former editor of the Illinois State Federation of Labor News.

The program planners for the schools consider themselves fortunate in being able to secure a labor leader to speak on one of the most controversial issues of the campaign.

"Why Women Should Work in Political Parties" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. George A. Paddock of Evanston. Mrs. Paddock, the wife of a former Illinois Congressman, has worked out an interesting approach to this subject.

A colored film portraying Illinois State Government will be a feature of the days.

Candidates will be introduced during the luncheon hour. The hours of the schools will be from 10:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Laverne Niven,
Rubin Martino
wed October 2

Miss Laverne Niven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Niven of Arlington Heights, was married October 2, to Rubin Martino, son of Mrs. Martino of Miami, Florida.

The ceremony took place in Chicago at the home of Father Gibson, 150 N. Menard, and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Martino left Monday for Salem, New Hampshire, where he will be joined in a short time by his bride.

Wedding unites sisters, brother for first time

The date of October 2 will always remain in the memory of Miss Constance Petticrew of Des Plaines because it was her wedding day, it was the day she met her two sisters and a brother for the first time, and it was also the silver wedding anniversary of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Petticrew.

Miss Petticrew had been adopted when only 8 weeks old, and although she knew she had real sisters and a brother, she had never had the opportunity to meet them. The Petticrews had made a special effort to locate and bring the family together for this important occasion. They were found residing in South Chicago.

The ceremony which united Miss Petticrew in marriage with Norman Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Locke of Palatine, was held at the Jefferson Park Bible church, with Dr. Charles A. Porter officiating.

During the service LaVerne Christianson, organist, accompanied Edward Jordan as he sang "The Lord's Prayer." The couple stood beneath a bridal arch, which was trimmed with fern and pink and white gladioli, as they repeated their marriage vows.

A white satin gown, fashioned with fitted bodice, having sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves, and a full skirt ending in a long train, was worn by the bride as she entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. A fingertip veil, fastened to a beaded crown, and a cascade bouquet of white mums completed her attire.

Maid of honor, Mary Swanson, was dressed in green satin. The gown was styled with fitted bodice, having a sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves, and a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow mums. Bridesmaids were Rosie Schneider and Barbara Hall, who were gowned alike in golden satin and carried bouquets of rust mums.

A wine velveteen dress, styled like the maid of honor's, was worn by Judy MacPherson, who served as flower girl. Tommy Hagstrom, the ring bearer, was dressed in a tuxedo.

The bridegroom was attended by Donald Bethel as best man, with Ben Hansen and Delbert Locke acting as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception for 130 guests was held in the church parlors, with Dr. Porter acting as master of ceremonies. Mr. Jordan entertained with two vocal numbers; Chuck Porter played two piano selec-

Berdine Schultz wed in double ring ceremony

Miss Berdine Schultz of Addison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Schultz of Barrington, and Lewis Kraga, son of Mrs. Martha Kraga of Elmhurst, were married Saturday at the Immanuel Lutheran church, Palatine.

White mums and gladioli decorated the altar before which the couple repeated their double ring nuptial vows after Rev. Wilbur Koester. The bride's brother-in-law, Vernon Ruhter, presided at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Theodore Kraga, the bridegroom's aunt, as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Twenty-Third Psalm."

The bride wore a gown of traditional white satin, which was fashioned with fitted bodice, having a high neckline which gave an off the shoulder effect, and a full skirt ending in a long train. A heart shaped off the face headpiece held her fingertip veil in place. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. Mr. Schultz gave his daughter in marriage.

Esther Schultz served her sister as maid of honor. She was dressed in yellow brocaded taffeta, which was made with a low neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt. A rhinestone necklace, a gift from the bride, trimmed the neckline. She carried a bouquet of orchid and white mums, and wore a matching headpiece in her hair.

Bridesmaids were Jean Gieseke and Lillian Kruse, with Ruth Ann Ruhter and Maretta Kraga acting as junior bridesmaids. The senior bridesmaids were dressed in green brocaded satin, styled identically to the maid of honor's. They also wore rhinestone necklaces, a gift from the bride, and carried bouquets of yellow, orchid and white mums, with matching headpieces in their hair.

The junior bridesmaids wore gowns of yellow brocaded taffeta, fashioned with high cape style necklines and full skirts. They carried bouquets of orchid and white mums, and had matching headpieces. They both wore strings of pearls, which were a gift from the bride.

Patricia June Schultz, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was styled like the junior bridesmaid, only it was made up of green brocaded taffeta. She wore pearls, a gift from the bride, and had a headpiece made up of yellow, orchid and white mums.

Ring bearer, Leonard Schultz Jr., nephew of the bride, wore a white suit with black bow tie, and carried the rings on a white satin and lace trimmed pillow.

Irene Chamberlain and Edgar Ulm are married

Wedding vows were repeated by Miss Irene Chamberlain and Edgar Ulm last Saturday after Rev. Wilbur Koester at the Palatine Lutheran church. Miss Chamberlain is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Chamberlain of Arlington Heights and Mr. Ulm is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kari Ulm of Forest Park.

Bouquets of white pom poms and gladioli decked the altar before which the couple were united in marriage. During the services Mrs. Florence Block sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A dress of white satin, trimmed in lace, and styled with fitted bodice and full skirt ending in a long train, was worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a crown effect headpiece. A tiny gold cross necklace was her only jewelry, and she carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and white rosebuds.

Miss Helen Kraft attended the bride as maid of honor. She was gowned in a lilac blue velvet dress, which was fashioned with a fitted bodice, having an off the shoulder effect, and a full skirt. Her bouquet consisted of gold gladioli, which dropped gold streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Joan Chamberlain, cousin of the bride, and Miss Eleanor Chamberlain, sister of the bride. They wore lime green gowns of the same style as the maid of honor, and carried the same kind of flowers.

Emil Karger acted as best man for the bridegroom, with Gerald Ulm and Erwin Ulm, brothers of the bridegroom, serving as ushers.

Mrs. Chamberlain was attired in a royal blue crepe dress, while Mrs. Ulm chose to wear a grey crepe dress. Both wore Australian orchid corsages.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the American Legion hall, Arlington Heights, for 200 guests. Music for dancing was furnished by the Arlington Ramblers and a buffet supper was served at midnight.

After spending a week's honeymoon in Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. Ulm will occupy their own home in Forest Park.

The bride was given a miscellaneous shower prior to her wedding by Mrs. Robert Kraft and Miss Helen Kraft.

The board also voted for increased insurance on the new building to $650,000, a figure the board approved as being closest to actual appraisal of the school structure.

An advisory council to aid the board of education in agricultural department curriculum was selected. Members are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wille, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Busse, Wm. Linneman, Wilmer Rohlwing, Howard Williams, Arnold Brockman, A. H. Franzene and Vic Peterson.

'Dangerous days for dogs; says sheriff

Motorists and dog owners are advised this week that more and more pets are being hurt in street accidents because of the switch back to Central Standard Time.

The director of the Chicago Anti-Cruelty Society, Dr. Wesley A. Young, said the number of emergency calls on injured pets is increasing rapidly. He blamed the habit of letting pets roam the streets during the same hours as in summertime.

The veterinarian urged owners to keep their pets off the streets after dusk.

North side kindergartens to occupy Methodist church

Walters continues active campaign for congress

Beginning Tuesday, October 19, all kindergarten classes for north side children will be held in the Methodist church Sunday school rooms, Superintendent R. E. Clabaugh announced this week. The Board of Education has made this arrangement with the church in order to free two classrooms at the main building, which, in turn, will be used to relieve overcrowded conditions in the third and fifth grades.

Mrs. Kathryn Foster and Miss Valerie Rempert, kindergarten teachers, have visited their new quarters and are confident that an excellent program can be carried on there. The new quarters are roomy and attractive and should present no difficulties for kindergarten work.

Members of the Board of Education are appreciative of the position taken by the members of the church board, the minister, and the Sunday school officials in entering into this cooperative effort to solve a community problem.

Arlington firemen even save curtains for home owner

Arlington Heights firemen extinguished a blaze caused by faulty wiring at the residence of Gerhard Held St., 105 S. Vail, Monday night.

Firemen answered the call at 7:30 p.m. and in less than an hour had the blaze under control. Damage, estimated at $500, was most serious along the west wall of the house.

"The firemen were very efficient in putting out the fire," the owner stated. "The smoke ejector they used kept the cost of damage down.

"They were so efficient," he added, "they even pulled the drapes and curtains aside to save them from further damage."

Prizes will be awarded to Cushman and Grimm at the next meeting of the club, which will be held October 19, at 8 p.m., at Legion hall. Anyone interested in joining the club is invited to attend.

CORRECTION

A recent story about the Arlington Ramblers, listed Butch Slottag as an accordionist. It should have read pianist.

Willard C. Walters candidate for representative in Congress from the Thirteenth Congressional District, is waging an energetic campaign among the voters in his preponderantly Republican area.

Walters states that he believes labor should find haven in both major parties and not be forced to segregate itself and solidify its influence to gain its proper influence in the government. He is impressing upon the voters the fact that regardless of the particular citizen's interest in the problems of organized labor, every citizen must realize that a law which labor itself considers so repressive and so vindictive that it consolidates its entire membership in an effort to defeat the law, is not a good law for the country.

PALATINE HOST TO BARRINGTON IN HOMECOMING SATURDAY

M A C S A Y S

BY GERALD McELROY

Results in the Northwest Conference the past week establishes Barrington as even more of a favorite than before to cop the league title. The Bronchos smothered defending champ Bensenville, 26-0. Grant had trouble disposing of Northbrook, 21-14, and gives evidence of the usual Grant situation of figuring to outscore opponents with emphasis on offense rather than defense. Antioch's upset of Palatine means only that those two teams are likely going to be chief competitors for the cellar. Antioch does not figure to win any more while Palatine's main hope of another win is the game in another week at Bensenville.

Buchta, Antioch Junior end, an all league prospect

Antioch looked better than expected last Friday but the Pirates helped them look good. Certainly big Buchta at end looks like all league material. Antioch will have plenty of trouble against teams with good pass defenses. Palatine played indifferent ball at Antioch and several boys whom this writer proposed to suggest for all conference consideration have shown so little the last couple of weeks they will not even be on the voting list unless they do an about face in a hurry.

P. A. A. has four officials for home games

We have used our little influence over and over again to get the Northwest Conference to adopt a rule requiring three officials on football games. We have three at Palatine but most of the schools still stick to two men. Under these circumstances we feel that a pat on the back is due to management of the Palatine independent football team for following a policy of having four registered officials for their home games.

Such action not only guarantees a well handled game according to the rules, but is a real protection against rough play so common in independent ball. Independent ball is hard to finance and when a team hires four officials and gets out a sound system to announce the game they are deserving of much local support for they are trying to do the right thing by the fans. Next Sunday Palatine is at home to Belvidere. This should be a game worth seeing.

First defeat and first night game for Lake Forest

Last week Lake Forest lost their first football game after 23 straight victories. We are told that this came about because the Foresters were looking ahead to the game with undefeated Crystal Lake this Friday night. Zion caught them unprepared.

By the way, the game at Crystal Lake Friday will be the first a Lake Forest team ever played under lights. In the old Northeast league Lake Forest steadfastly refused to play night ball anywhere. One of the concessions they made in the new conference was to play at night.

Ela plays Grayslake

Ela should have played a Northwest Conference schedule in football. Take it from us, we think they would have won a game or two. Instead they elected in their first year to play free lance and who do they schedule? They have Grayslake and Lemont as two opponents. Grayslake beat Antioch 25-0 and Lemont beat Palatine and almost whipped Barrington. Both Ela and Waucanda will likely be in the league schedule next season.

Anything can happen in North Suburban race

The North Suburban is as even a league as they come. A glance

Antioch outfights Pirates to 13-7 victory

Antioch opened the Northwest Conference season with a 13-7 victory over Palatine that came as a real jolt to the Pirate chances of ranking in the league first division. Palatine had earlier toppled Northbrook and was figured to beat Antioch handily.

Coach "Moose" Kruzan's Sequoits outplayed and outfought the Palatine eleven from the start. When the Pirates fumbled the opening kickoff Antioch recovered on the Palatine 35 yard line and marched to a touchdown in seven plays. The score came on a nine yard pass from T. Poulas to Buchta in the end zone. The try for extra point by place kick failed.

Palatine scored in the second quarter without making a first down. Palatine recovered a fumble on the Antioch 11 yard line. On the first play Dick Ross hit the line for six yards and Howard Kagay slashed over Antioch's left tackle for a five yard gain to score. Ross then hit the line for the extra point.

Northeast has it all over North Suburban schools

After Arlington's 19-6 victory over Crystal Lake, North Suburban leader, it seems quite definite that Arlington, Niles, and Leyden, the Northeast castouts, are all better in football this year than any of the other five teams who jumped the league to form a new one. May be they knew what they were about. Results would seem to indicate they saw what was coming if they continued the conference.

New policy being tried in reporting scores

The City News Bureau of Chicago, which serves all the Chicago papers, has started a new plan in collecting scores of prep games in this area. The new plan is that each school call in their home game results to State to 2-3100 at their own expense. Formerly the writer of this column handled the scores from 18 schools of this area who called them collect and they were then forwarded to the City News Bureau to collect. Under the new plan it is up to each school to call direct and if scores do not appear in the papers the next day, they will know why.

74 yard dash starts Cardinals on 19-6 win over Crystal Lake

by MARVIN PRELLBERG

Coach Curtis Larsen's Arlington Varsity charges entertained a jam-packed and excited Homecoming crowd last Friday night under the arcs by trimming Max Brady's Crystal Lake eleven, 19-6. This victory against the Tigers was the Cardinals' second against two defeats, while the loss was the Lakers' first of the season.

This game was in the bag for the high-spirited Arlington squad from the opening kick-off, on which Roger Breda raced 74 yds. down the middle, only to be tackled from behind on the 16, to the last play of the game. However, Arlington had some mighty fine breaks during the game as the locals recovered both of the Tigers' fumbles in vital spots and also blocked two of Crystal Lake's punts.

The first tally of the game came within the first two minutes. After Breda had sped those 74 yards behind excellent blocking, Augie Krause, on third down raced up to the 3 yard line for a first down. Bill Robinson then banged through on a quarter back sneak for the score, and the Cards led 6-0 as Ken Bork missed the conversion try.

ARLINGTON notched its second tally of the contest midway through the second period, climaxing a 39-yard march. Krause returned Jerry Roewer's punt 22 yards early in the second quarter, finally being dropped on the Tigers' 39. Krause once again proved his hard running when on the next play he carried up to the 26 for a first and ten. In three plays the Cards moved up to the 19, from where Charlie Fischer burst through for 16 yards and a first down on the 3.

It appeared as though this drive was stopped when a penalty and a fumble moved the ball back to the 10, but on 4th down, after Paul Roche had sped up to the 3, Fischer took the ball on a double reverse pass and flipped the ball to Robinson in the end zone for his second TD of the night. The extra point was again no good and the Cards led 12-0. Both teams tried desperately to tally in this frame but time ran out and the score remained the same when the half ended.

This Sunday the Bears are again at home, entertaining Bo McMillin's Detroit Lions that experts are presuming will be an exhibition for the Chicago squad. Naturally, Halas is attempting to work up some fear for his players, but has not been too successful to date.

THE LIONS will have everything to win, nothing to lose in Sunday's fracas, however.

Detroit to test Bears Sunday

Chicago Bears gained revenge over their third nemesis of last season, Los Angeles, Sunday in a game witnessed by 43,000 persons who poured the greatest amount of coins in paper back George Halas' pockets to date. The Bears won after a slow first quarter, 42-21, with Luckman and Lujack each contributing three touchdowns. Layne's drive in final minutes ended on the seven yard line as the gun sounded.

Fischer pushes to the 3 yd. line for Cards

On the sidelines

by MARVIN PRELLBERG

The Cards played a good game last Friday in whipping Crystal Lake but now can look forward to a frisky little Belvidere squad tomorrow evening. Although Belvidere's season has been far from great, the Bucs should be that much more nepped up to whip our Cardinals.

In realizing this, Coach Curtis Larsen has been patching up Arlington's weak spots throughout the week, and the locals should look mighty sharp against Belvidere. This week has been spent on improving the blocking and the defensive play at the ends. The Cards' blocking was noticeably improved last Friday, but it could still be sharpened up.

Practice was called off Monday, because quite a number of aches and sore throats prevailed among the squad. However, a 45-minute skull practice was held. The grididers had a series of wind sprints this week, so as to give them some of that extra speed when they need it.

Coach Larsen is also working on a plan to give some of the iron men, who play practically the whole 48 minutes, some capable substitutes. These boys are Bill West at center, Bill Robinson at quarterback, and Charlie Fischer at halfback. Stress has also been given on sophomore quarterback, Eric Nelson, as a substitute for Robinson and on running the team in preparation for next year. Incidentally, the coach of Belvidere was sports editor of the DeKalb school paper where Larsen went to school. He was quite a plunger for our coach when he was playing football there, in fact he nicknamed Larsen "The Blonde Viking."

Chuck Page, sophomore end from Arlington Heights, caught three passes for a total of 55 years as Co college opened its Midwest conference competition Saturday. Page's efforts represented the bulk of the air yardage made by the Kohawks who completed a total of five passes for 77 yards, 20 more yards than Monmouth made with passes.

The underdog Coe team came within a few yards of an upset victory over Monmouth before the Scots scored in the final quarter to eke out a 7-0 win.

Next Saturday (Oct. 16) Page and his Kohawks mates will represent one of the oldest collegiate grid rivalries in the Middle West the Coe-Cornell college (Mt. Vernon, Ia.) series which is before the turn of the century.

Heiniger scored twice more in the first quarter on an interception and pass from Lange.

Bob Witte went around right end for 10 yards and a touch-down in the second quarter.

In the second half, Lange carried the ball for the fifth Trier tally, and Pete Heiniger added the final touchdown in the fourth quarter on a one-yard plunge over center.

The Kohawks dominated the play in all departments. They racked up 204 yards running and 89 yards passing for a total of 293 yards gained from scrimmage. Farragut ran up 79 yards running and 10 yards passing for a total of 89 yards. The Trojans also held a commanding edge in first downs, rolling up 10 against 42-0 for Farragut.

Cards beat Crystal Lake

were farther out in front 19-0.

IT WAS IN the last quarter that Crystal Lake made its only touchdown. The Cards were on the verge of another six points late in this quarter, as they were down on the Lagers' 11 yard line, following a blocked kick and a seven-yard run by Robinson. However, on third down Eric Nelson, sophomore quarterback, faded back and tossed a pass which was snagged out of the air by Crystal Lake's speedy halfback, Don Cowan, who sped 88 yards down the western sidelines into the end zone for the Lakers' only score.

Substitutes finished the rest of the game for Arlington and played shortly with Crystal Lake controlling the ball on Arlington's 3 yard stripe after completing two long passes for 1st downs in succession. The final score showed the Cards homecoming a success by a 19-6 count.

The Card line showed much improvement, although the ends are still weak on offensive blocking. Jim Stavros and Bill Wiest both played outstanding ball in the line, as did John Deininger, George Kovacik, and Bob Schultz. Cowan was by far the outstanding performer for the visitors.

Belvidere is next on the list for the locals this Friday, and although the Bucs are not showing too good an outfit this year, it should turn out to be quite a thrilling game. Game time is 8:15 on Belvidere's field.

COACH WILLIAM Creamer's Arlington frosh-soph team whipped Crystal Lake's frosh-soph team in the preliminary tilt by a 21-0 margin. The Cards jumped into a 14-0 lead in the first half, Bob Evans, sophomore left end, scored both touchdowns. His first came when he recovered a blocked punt in the Lagers' end zone, with Ronny Thill plunging over for the extra point. The second came on a pass from Harry Griffith to Evans for a touchdown, and Griffith kicked the conversion.

Billy Cutler scored the locals' final touchdown in the second half on a 6-yard run. Griffith again kicked the extra point. Crystal Lake's second string tallied the Tigers' only TD after a series of passes and runs brought them up to the 3.

Arlington's underclassmen tackle with Belvidere preceding the Varsity game tomorrow, starting at 6:15 p. m.

Tells part goal line 'wall' has in gridiron sport

by M. W. ROSE

In the first of my three articles, dealing with football rules, I gave some general rules under which the basic rules of football are handled. In my second article I explained what a team or a man in motion is. In this, my third and last article, I am going to explain the part that the goal lines play in this game of football.

1—Forget that the goal lines are lines on the field and try to see them as "walls" built at each end of the field from the ground to the sky.

2—When a runner advances from the field of play so any part of the ball touches any part of the wall, it is a touchdown.

Explanation:—After the touching of the goal with the ball while it is in possession of a runner the ball becomes dead, and no matter what happens after, a touchdown has been scored.

PLAY:—RUNNER A1 advances so that the ball touches the goal line "wall". He is then driven back to the 2 yd. line. Ruling: A touchdown has been scored. When A1 touched goal line "wall" ball became dead.

Play: Runner A1 advances so that ball touches goal line. He then fumbles and A2 or B1 recovers the ball over the goal line or behind the goal line or the ball goes over the end zone. Ruling: Touchdown. When A1 touches goal line "wall" with the ball; the ball became dead and any recovery of ball is after touchdown has been scored.

Play: Runner A1 advances so that ball touches goal line. He then fumbles and A2 or B1 recovers the ball over the goal line or behind the goal line or the ball goes over the end zone. Ruling: Touchdown. When A1 touches goal line "wall" with the ball; the ball became dead and any recovery of ball is after touchdown has been scored.

Play: Runner A1, advances so that ball touches goal line. He then fumbles and A2 or B1 recovers the ball over the goal line or behind the goal line or the ball goes over the end zone. Ruling: Touchdown. When A1 touches goal line "wall" with the ball; the ball became dead and any recovery of ball is after touchdown has been scored.

3—IF A BALL belongs to a team behind its goal line, when a down ends, it is a safety if that team is responsible for the force which sent the ball from the field of play across the goal line, unless it is an incomplete pass.

Explanation: Every part of the ball must be beyond a team's goal line to prevent a safety being scored against it.

Play: Team A on its own 2 yd. line attempts to run a ball out from behind its own goal line. Player A1 is tackled on the goal line so that the line bisects the ball. Ruling: Safety. Every part of the ball must be beyond the goal line.

Note: To score a touchdown any part of the ball must touch

A steady dwindling of income makes the installation of parking meters in the city of Des Plaines look dubious to the taxpayer footing the bill.

City clerk Henrich reported that for the month of September there was only $1,861.84 income from the meters. This compares to the previous months as follows:

May, 1948 $2,764.40, June, $2,209.78, July, $2,516.44, August, $1,974.75, Sept. $1,861.84.

Stags begin practice for B. A. A. schedule

The Chicago Stags, braced by a flock of former college cage stars, began training last week at the Naval Armory for the opening of their Basketball association of America schedule, November 6, at the Stadium.

Veterans reporting to Coach Harold "Ole" Olsen include Andy Phillip and Gene Vance, the two "whiz kids" of Illinois, Stan Mikas, Chuck Gilman and Paul Huston all of last years team. Max Zaslosky, sensational shooting forward and B.A.A. scoring champion, will not report and is not included in Stag plans, according to Olsen.

Newcomers include Ed Mikan and Ed "Whitey" Kachan of DePaul, Marion Spears of Western Kentucky, George Weber, Siena College Star, and Jack Eskridge, left handed pivot man from the University of Kansas.

Olsen indicated he would stress shooting practice in the morning workouts but would devote the afternoon session to scrimmage and lecture.

Crown homecoming king, queen

by DELORES WILKE
"The day" at last! 1 o'clock—the assembly bell—and time for the coronation.

Arlington High students scramble for seats as the band plays two pep numbers, Mr. Wallace Grace, chosen by the Senior class to open the Homecoming festivities, presents a pep talk on school spirit and an assured victory game. His speech sets a gay mood for 800 eager Arling-tonites.

Darkness covers the auditorium as the curtain opens, showing two lovely thrones adorned in soft brown velvet. The Master of Ceremonies, Carl Skoog, steps in front of the audience and all is quiet. Into the spotlight step the candidates: Joan Unger in a beautiful yellow gown; Orv Schaeffer, president of the junior class; Shirley Thorsen in a lovely aqua and white formal; Toni Moretti, football star; Del Wilke in a black net formal; Franz Burnier, president of the Student Senate; Phoebe Ellis in a charming aqua gown; Ken Bork, president of the Youth Center; Jackie Ryan in a pretty blue net formal; Bill Robinson, president of the Senior class.

A PAGE HANDS the M. C. a scroll. There is absolute silence while everyone holds his breath. Ta-ta-ta-ta rolls out the band. In a low, mellow voice the M. C. proclaims: "The student body of Arlington High has chosen as their king and queen, Toni Moretti and Delores Wilke." The dazed king and queen step forward. The pages, Joan Ibbotson and Eileen Schumaker, bring out two robes and put them on royal shoulders; on the queen's, a long white jeweled train with a fur collar; and on the king's, a purple velvet robe also trimmed with fur. As the royal couple kneels, the Master of Ceremonies places a jeweled crown upon each head. Then after taking his place upon the throne, the king is presented with his scepter to rule over Homecoming. The queen is given a lovely bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, the attendants also receiving bouquets. Then proclaims Carl Skoog: "Students of Arlington High, I give you your King and Queen, and their royal court!"

So ended much hard work and fun for all with happiness and achievement. Some won; some lost, bringing a closer spirit of understanding. May Arlington High always have a Homecoming like the one in 1948.

County tops 'half-way' mark in processing tax appeals

Members of Cook County board of tax appeals have processed 65 percent of the near-record breaking number of appeals and resolutions submitted to it this year.

William M. DeVine and Eli A. Golan, board members, reported on the final day for accepting appeals, July 31, more than 95,000 had been received. Another 2,000 resolutions, changes sent to the board from the assessor, brought the grand total to 100,000.

This figure, DeVine said, nears the 1931 record year of 102,000 cases filed.

At that time the board worked two shifts, night and day, to clear away decisions and other paper work. Now, DeVine said, with less than half the 1931 employees, a 12-hour day and seven day week is not uncommon for some of the staff.

They expect to conclude work on the mass of appeals by the end of the year. The unusually heavy load was due to this being a quadrennial period. Every fourth year there is a complete reassessment of properties, according to board members.

DeVine said 65,000 cases handled included those up to the end of September. No exact figures have been computed, he pointed out, because processing of cases has kept the staff working at top speed.

Cook county board adds $1 million to budget to meet higher costs

A possible halt on admitting new patients at Cook County hospital, cessation of work of zoning board of appeals, and curtailment of other vital services in Cook county departments was threatened Monday when 15 county commissioners wrangled for more than two hours on passage of a $1,500,000 supplemental appropriation to the county budget.

Funds were made available, however, after a recess at noon to give the state's attorney's office time to prepare a decision on the legality of additional appropriations.

The appropriation, whose total is exactly $1,497,500, will be tacked onto the $33,462,000 budget for 1948 approved last January for the fiscal year ending November 30. The budget was the highest in the county's history.

The money will come from increased receipts in county fees during the year.

In a vote of the full board, 12 commissioners approved the funds, while three stuck by their guns and cast "nays." Passage was by the minimum legal margin—four-fifths of the total ballot.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM N. ERICKSON cast the deciding vote on the issue with the declaration: "I would like to vote against the appropriation to test the legality, but I must cast an 'aye' because I can't see the county hospital closing down nor the Oak Forest infirmary badly crippled."

The president added that the board of tax appeals was threatened with immediate halting of activities if the funds were not granted. Far more appeals were made to the tax board this year than anticipated, he explained, and the group already was in the red.

Rail Fair success may spark larger show next summer

The Chicago Railroad Fair closed after an amazing 76-day run during which it played host to 2,500,813 visitors. The attendance figure was four times what the Fair's backers had estimated: it was almost two-thirds that of the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition which involved an area and cost four times as great.

So successful was the Fair that railroad executives who backed it this year have left the decision as to whether to stage it again next summer in the hands of Maj. Lohr. Should he decide in favor of a return engagement, most of the participating railroads are expected to enlarge and improve their exhibits.

"Pearl of the Antilles"

Cuba often is called the "Pearl of the Antilles". It is the largest island of the West Indies, and lies among the Gulf of Mexico, the Strait of Florida and the Atlantic Ocean on the north and the Caribbean sea on the south. Key West, Fla., is about 90 miles distant.

Ramblin' Around with Ramble Inn

by PHOEBE ANNE ELLIS

There are lots of students who have paid their yearly membership fees of $1.00, but they probably have not stopped to wonder just how their money is used. Really, that small sum goes a long way to make the Y. C. the successful place that it is!

First of all, the ping pong equipment (including all those balls) is furnished by that money.

Then there is the upkeep and additions of furniture, which, as you all know, is often broken (accidentally, of course).

The super redecorating and cleaning that is completed each year is also paid for by your membership fees.

And did you know that the Y. C. pays for five magazine subscriptions? "Seventeen"; "The Saturday Evening Post"; "Life"; "Collier's", and "Field and Stream" are all purchased with your money.

The best music on records is constantly playing in the juke box—without your nickels, due to Schapanski's Record Shop, which has graciously contributed all the records free of charge, since the first opening of Ramble Inn. However, the jukebox needs repairs once in a while and that is paid for by the members.

In addition to all this, the Youth Center buys the decorations and extra trimmings for the April Showers Dance and the annual Hallowe'en party. Also the door prizes, hot-dogs for last week's Homecoming party, and the services of any dance band are paid for by the memberships.

So now you know (if you didn't already) that your small dollars are very important in obtaining the many services that make Ramble Inn the popular place of so many students!

Say, don't forget to reserve Oct. 30 for Ramble Inn's annual Hallowe'en Party! Plans will begin Tuesday, with a joint meeting of the Adult Board, Y. C. officers and sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell.

Displaying the Flag

The flag never should be reduced to the role of a mere decoration by being tied into knots or draped over a speaker's stand. For this purpose bunting should be employed. When used on a speaker's platform the flag should be displayed over a staff or from a wall or curtain at the rear. When the flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from a windowsill, balcony, front of building or similar position the union should go to the peak of the staff, unless the flag is flown at half-staff.

The super redecorating and cleaning that is completed each year is also paid for by your membership fees.

Bensenville Terriers defeat Roselle club

Bensenville Terriers defeated Roselle club Sunday 9 to 5. Smiling Bill Urban had the visiting batters guessing at his "scrambled mess" of pitching and the opponents were allowed most of their runs on errors.

One of the local baseball fans says he will bet 2 to 1 the Terriers will lose next Sunday on account of the Harvest dance here Saturday evening, when it will be Sunday morning before they hit the bed. If history repeats itself, they sure are billed to lose. — 1908 —

Honor pastor

Rev. J. C. Hoffmeister became pastor of St. Paul Evangelical church ten years ago September 29, and in commemoration of the ten years fellowship of the pastor and congregation, special services will be held Sunday morning in that church.

Rev. Hoffmeister has proven himself to be a man who has an unlimited capacity for work. His congregation is so widely distributed that his pastoral duties are varied and many.

We hope he will have his estimable family with us for many more years. — 1908 —

Louis J. Millers celebrate 25 years

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Miller, of Wheeling road, Arlington Heights, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday with a party for many friends.

Among the guests were Mr. Heckman and John Steinmeyer of Hampshire, Henry Tegtmeyer, William Bornkamp, Wm. Stefonmeyer, E. J. Scharrighausen and Wm. Thompson and their wives.

See the connection? (A story from a New York newspaper)

J. Sturm is building a double corn crib and wagon shed. Reports say Henry Cooper will move to his father's farm at Diamond Lake.

Chas. Froelich and wife came over in their car to visit Jno. Witt's Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Wiehart is at present under the doctor's care, and we hope she is not seriously ill.

The telephone company has men on the main line, trimming trees and renumbering poles.

Wm. Buesching Jr. had the misfortune to step on a rusty nail. He is under a doctor's care.

Christ Eissler and family made a business call at Palatine last Sunday.

William Becker is having a house built of cement blocks.

N. Pitzen and man are doing the concrete work. Rumor says our RFD mail carrier on Route 1 will be married before Christmas. We hope it is true. Then the girls won't tease him so much on the way.

H. F. Freese has been ill with rheumatism the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Railstob, of Chicago, spent Sunday at Northfield.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

DEAR JANE:

Through the summer we have watched with interest the efforts of one young couple who, seemingly, have found a way to beat the present day building costs.

Early in the Spring, the wife, who was employed as a draftsman before her marriage, gathered her long-worked-over blueprints together, and with her husband's help, staked out the area on which their house was to take form. Then, with a tractor and scoop, which they borrowed from the young man's farmer father, they patiently did the excavation. This took considerable time, for they were only able to work on the weekends, but when they thought of the labor costs they were saving, they smiled and went on.

Eventually, they were ready to lay the foundation. Because cement blocks are considerably cheaper than poured cement, they were used for the basement walls and sides of the house up to the second floor. These they intend to paint with Medusa cement paint until they can afford the siding they really want. They laid these blocks themselves, and when the exterior of the structure was completed, they measured their house and found that they were "off" only a half inch! I wonder if professional builders always do as well?

They used natural pine perpendicular for the upper part of the house, cutting and nailing every board in place. The young wife actually cut and made a basement door and the lower half of a Dutch door for their kitchen. Isn't that an achievement for a woman?

Another measure of economy has been the roof. They couldn't afford wood shingles, so they purchased dark green asphalt shingles that overlap and are said to be fireproof, taking the extra help of a friend and two boys to cover the roof.

As it stands now, the house is square, but later on, the addition of a two car attached garage will give the building width. As it is, in this 28x28 foot area, they have a full basement, four rooms on the first floor, and space for two rooms on the second floor. Incidentally, the second floor has dormer windows cut into the roof on two sides.

They have a hot water system, having purchased their boiler, radiators, and connections, from Army surplus stock. This proved

State fund balances

Richard Yates Rowe, state treasurer, today announced available balances in major state funds and deposits of major tax receipts for the month ending September 30th.

Total state funds decreased from $441,888,716.73 to $419,264,946.56; a decrease of $22,623,770.17.

General revenue fund decreased from $105,363,437.36 to $99,218,603.49; a decrease of $6,144,833.87.

Deposits of retailers' occupation tax for Sept. totaled $14,817,757.12 as compared to $12,691,826.29 for Sept. last year.

Deposits of motor fuel tax for Sept. were $5,256,714.35 compared to $4,772,468.30 for the same month last year.

Motor vehicle licenses collected $686,013.91 in Sept. as compared to $413,479.85 in September, 1947. Licenses for the first nine months collected $27,970.73.

Cigarette tax deposits in Sept. were $2,768,903.64. Collections for Sept. last year were $2,446,778.

The man who makes his own arrangements can do this best through what is known as disability insurance. Most of these policies pay a certain income during the time the insured is unable to carry on his usual occupation as the result of illness or injury. It is not necessary to be in the hospital or to have some illness that is specified by the company. (Many companies refuse to pay for certain illnesses, thus diminishing the value of the policy.) In this way a cash income is available during the total or partial disability for use in whatever way seems advisable to the policy holder such as doctor or hospital bills, upkeep of the home, grocery bills, medicine, etc. Such a policy provides just what most middle class breadwinners need: a sure income during the period they are physically unable to work—with no restrictions or small type clauses that cut the value of the policy. (I recall one patient who could not collect for a hysterectomy because there was a statement buried in fine print to the effect that the company would not pay for "diseases or disabilities not common to both sexes".)

If you plan to buy an insurance policy for protection in the event of disability, go to a reputable agent and ask his advice. The well-established companies do not advertise their policies over the radio or by mail. Your caution will be well repaid in safe, adequate protection against disability. (Next week I will discuss the features that are desirable in a good disability insurance policy.)

Disability insurance

Doctor Ward's Notebook

These are days of health plans, sickness benefits, illness insurance, hospital protection, etc., etc. It is increasingly difficult for a person with no special knowledge of these things to select a plan which will protect his family when serious illness strikes the wage earner. Doctors are frequently asked: "Is this policy any good?" "If I have an operation, will my insurance pay for it?" "Why didn't they tell me I wasn't covered for this illness?" Many times the M. D. has the unpleasant duty of informing the patient that his policy is all but worthless. An intelligent investigation before his policy is put into such a plan may save many a headache and financial loss later.

People working in a company which provides health insurance usually will profit by accepting this plan. Although many of these policies are far from ideal, the premiums are usually low because a large number of individuals are covered by a "group" policy. These workers have no problems—when illness or accident occur the company has provided for such contingencies. It is the man in business for himself or working for a smaller company not offering a health or hospital policy who must protect himself against financial loss. When an injury occurs the income usually stops, but family expenses go right on in addition to the cost of medical care.

The man who makes his own arrangements can do this best through what is known as disability insurance. Most of these policies pay a certain income during the time the insured is unable to carry on his usual occupation as the result of illness or injury. It is not necessary to be in the hospital or to have some illness that is specified by the company. (Many companies refuse to pay for certain illnesses, thus diminishing the value of the policy.) Soft-shelled eggs

Don't worry if your pullets are laying soft-shelled eggs now while they're coming into production, says S. F. Ridlen, University of Illinois extension poul-tryman. Soft shells usually disappear as production increases.

You can help eliminate soft shells by feeding plenty of oyster shells, or some source of calcium, he adds, and by feeding a ration with plenty of vitamin D.

You shouldn't expect pullets to lay large eggs right away, Ridlen notes, but you can expect the eggs to get larger as the pullets lay often. Young birds probably will not reach maximum egg size for several weeks.

Egg size is an unknown quantitative, the specialist explains. Pullets do not produce such large yolks and whites as mature hens,

Tips on Wiring for Better Lighting In Study, Play Room and Workshop

When convenience outlets are spaced every twelve feet along the wall, lamps can be placed near play and study tables.
Well-spaced outlets eliminate the need for unsightly extension cords and make it possible to rearrange furniture where desired. For the type of activity shown, adequate light is insured when the floor lamp is supplemented by illumination from ceiling, wall or valance fixtures.

Ideal wiring for recreation rooms includes a ceiling outlet for every 150 square feet of space, plus outlets for supplementary wall or valance lighting.
A convenience outlet should be placed every 20 feet when a wall is unbroken by a door, and in every space between doors when it is over three feet long.

Record cow

Several registered Holstein-Friesian cows in the dairy herd owned by Carl H. Will, Arlington Heights, have recently completed official production tests in Herd Improvement Registry Test, the Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces.

The highest producer was Palanios E. Diehl Carnation with a total of 629 pounds of butterfat and 16,588 pounds of milk. The test was completed in 348 days on 2 milkings daily and at the age of 5 years 10 months.

Testing was supervised by the University of Illinois, in co-operation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The meats specialist says he has received several inquiries asking why the lard from homebutchered hogs was off-flavor, and he can't find any other reason for it except spraying with BHC.
Other experiment stations have found this to be true, he said, and the College of Agriculture intends to run some tests this fall.

For all practical purposes,
there is no danger to humans from eating pork from hogs sprayed with BHC. The off-flavor or meat tastes like moldy hay, and one mouthful is enough.

In all likelihood, it also is perfectly harmless to eat pork from hogs sprayed with BHC if you wait 30 days or longer after spraying for the flavor to wear off, it is believed.

Snowfence best temporary siding
for corn cribs

If you can possibly find snowfence, use it to build your pole-and-snowfence corn crib, says Dean G. Carter, farm buildings specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Snowfence is expected to be hard to find before long, he said.
Available supplies are disappearing and it is becoming a "short" item. But snowfence is still the best material to use for the side of the temporary crib recommended by the agricultural extension service.

If you can't get snowfence, the next best thing to use for siding is 2 to 3 inch saplings from your farm woodlot, if you have one.
Or you can make slats about the same size from salvage lumber.
Just stand them on end a few inches apart for ventilation and tie them together with wire.

A SECOND possibility, if you can't get snowfence, is to make your own snowfence. It's quite a job, but can be done if need be. Use number 9 wire spaces 12 inches apart and staple it on the outside of 1x4 inch boards as tall as the crib.

You could use welded wire mesh instead of snowfence, but that's also a short item, hard to find.

Whatever kind of siding you use, the pole-and-snowfence crib can be built for only 15 to 25 cents per bushel. The cribs hold 40 bushels per foot of length, and can be built any length needed.
They're easy to put up, and probably will last three or four years after this season.

YOU CAN PUT in several removable panels that work like sliding doors along one side of the crib for easy removal of corn at shelling time. Or you could nail two 2x10 inch planks to the outside at the base of the crib for the same purpose.

Plans for the temporary pole-and-snowfence crib are available from the local farm adviser for 15 cents. Ask for plan number 447. Ten thousand of them have been printed by the College of Agriculture, Urbana, and most of them have already been sent out to county farm advisers.

USSR Meteorological Stations

An innovation in the Soviet Union's meteorological service is an automatic weather station of Soviet design that registers atmospheric pressure, temperature, wind direction and velocity and broadcasts the data over the radio at regular intervals. Several of these stations, which do not have to be visited by a maintenance man more than once a year, were set up recently in various parts of the country difficult of access.

CRACKLETS

WHAT?

Cracklets are a complete nutritionally balanced ration for chicks.

Cracklets are made by the same formula as Starting Mash.

Cracklets contain a uniform blend of 17 fine quality food ingredients plus minerals.

Cracklets contain all the vitamins and minerals essential to health and growth.

WHY?

Chicks like to pick their food. Cracklets are irregular in size and shape and permit chicks to eat in a natural way.

Chicks will eat more when they can eat naturally — and the more they eat —
the faster they grow.

Chicks will waste mash from the hoppers. Cracklets will cut down this waste.

Cracklets are palatable and reduce the tendency toward pastiness in eating.

Investigate Hoarseness
Hoarseness not directly related to colds or other obvious causes should be investigated early, for it may be an indication of a serious disorder such as cancer, syphilis or tuberculosis.

Barn destroyed

A large barn on the Milner farm, located between Capron and Chemung, was destroyed by fire about 7:15 p. m. Tuesday of last week and approximately 26 tons of baled hay, a quantity of grain and a corn binder were also destroyed.

The farm is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Behrens.

The Behrens had just returned home and had sat down to eat when the lights went out. They then noticed a reflection in the window and looking out saw the top of the barn on fire.

Cumulus Clouds

Cumulus clouds, rounded white masses which often resemble a flock of sheep drifting across the sky, are usually a sign of good weather. But during the warmer part of the year and most of the time in the tropics, cumulus may sometimes build up into great towers of cloud which become cumulonimbus, or thunderheads, discharging showers of rain and sometimes hail.

LAW on the FARM

Fencing Responsibilities

Farmers are not the only property owners who build fences: Statutory and common law rules in Illinois impose certain fencing obligations on several public, private and semi-public agencies. These statutes and rules may be summarized briefly as follows.

Railroads are required by law to fence their right of way against livestock. In interpreting the statute our courts have held that this is a reasonable requirement and that railroad corporations must comply, that the fences must be sufficient, that they must be erected along the edge of the right-of-way, and that the adjoining owner may make use of the fence in pasturing his animals. Responsibility for the fence may rest with the adjoining owner if he voluntarily contracts with the railroad corporation to build or maintain it. Ordinarily a railroad must pay damage if persons on its trains or livestock on its tracks are injured because of an inadequate railroad fence.

School districts in Illinois must "... keep and maintain, in good repair, all division fences between school grounds and adjoining lands." Although the statute does not prescribe the kind of fence which must be maintained, it can be assumed that it should be a legal fence as described in the fence law—one capable of turning hogs, sheep, cattle and horses.

Fireworks plants erected in the future must be completely enclosed by a fence and all gates must be kept locked or guarded by a watchman.

Persons endowed with real estate by operation of the Illinois law on dower are required by law to maintain fences (and other improvements) in good repair.

It would seem that cemeteries, park districts or other agencies owning land, should in the absence of statute have the same responsibilities as a private owner with respect to the maintenance of division fences, unless the nature of their activity would not require fencing at all. On Experiments at Indiana and Iowa have shown the same general results, Russell said.

The vitamins found in alfalfa meal make the difference," the livestock specialist explained. "It's a big difference too."

Russell says a good supplement mixture to use with farm grains is 200 pounds of tankage, 100 pounds of soybean meal, and 100 pounds of alfalfa meal.

The junior growers of the state are competing with boys and girls throughout the nation for a share of the A&P Food Stores' $6,000 in agricultural scholarships.

The awards, which Illinois growers are seeking, include a $500 national championship, four $200 regional prizes, thirty-three sectional awards of $100 each and four $10 awards in each state.

The program for this year's convention features tours of Edison Institute, Dearborn Village, the Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant, A&P warehouse, three Detroit newspaper plants, the famous Eastern Market and Union Produce Terminal, and the Detroit Art Institute. A bit of international flavor will be added to the agenda when the youthful farmers travel to Windsor, Ontario, over the International Bridge, and return to Detroit via the River tunnel.

the other hand if they need a more expensive fence than the ordinary farm owner, than it could well be argued that it should be built and maintained by the agency. A cemetery, for example, might want a fence which would have architectural beauty and which would cost much more than a farm fence.

Highway officials are not required to fence the road right of way, and drainage districts are by law exempted from the duty of fencing their ditches.

Sow fed alfalfa meal raises more pigs

Plenty of alfalfa meal in the sow's ration can make the difference between two or three pigs per litter at weaning time, or seven or eight pigs.

That's the word from Harry G. Russell, livestock specialist, University of Illinois.

"If you have some sows farrowing in late fall or early winter, it's money in your pocket to feed them at least 10 percent alfalfa meal in their total ration," Russell says. "This will take the place of legume pasture which they can't get at that season."

During tests at the College of Agriculture, Urbana, one group of sows was fed a normal ration plus alfalfa meal. Another lot received the same ration, but the same feed nutrients known to be in alfalfa meal were supplied

The first group—with alfalfa meal—raised 75 to 85 percent of their litters. Those without natural alfalfa meal lost 75 to 85 percent of their litters. That's where the difference shows up between two or three pigs, or seven or eight pigs at weaning time.

Experiments at Indiana and Iowa have shown the same general results, Russell said.

At least one member of Dame Nature's colorful family has met its comeupance at the hands of the florists. The flower growers, it seems, have slipped one over on the ladies of the Carduaceae—chrysanthemums, to you.

It appears that several types of pompon mums, those dainty button and daisy-like blossoms, would naturally hold off blooming until Thanksgiving, but the growers have tricked the same varieties into flowering for Sweetest Day, October 16—more than a month ahead of the horticultural calendar.

The man, it seems, waits for the long nights and late mornings of late fall, when the sun sets early and rises late. She grows principally at night, like some other members of the family, and sets her bud strictly on schedule. Florists pondered this phenomenon and figured that if the hours of darkness could be lengthened, then little old chrysanth would get all mixed up in her habits.

So after hiding all the calendars, the growers contrived a set of curtains, made of black cloth, which could be drawn over the young plants an hour or two before sunset and kept tightly dark until an hour or more after broad daylight. The nights were certainly longer under the black cover.

And the chrysanthemums fell for it. Pompons and the big fluffy mums that used to bloom for Thanksgiving are on sale now as gifts for Sweetest Day, October 16. The theme of this day is "Make Someone Happy."

Sheriff checks on federal lists of slot machines

Chief Albert H. Johnson of the sheriff's Cook County Highway Police, reported Tuesday that his deputies had made a complete check of recently released Federal lists of persons in the suburbs who had taken out slot machine licenses.

Of the 348 listed, Chief Johnson said, his men nabbed 78 machines.

Others proved not to have machines, disclaimed ever taking out licenses, or were incorrect addresses. In some instances, the chief added, there was evidence of where a machine "had been" but none when the deputies arrived.

A few proved to be outside of Cook county, though located fairly near the line.

Chief Johnson said a constant watch is kept on the use of the "one-armed bandits", and that in the past year deputies have made arrests in 200 places not listed by the Federal governments Collector of Internal Revenue.

Since Sheriff Elmer Walsh took office on Dec. 1, 1946, the chief said, the police records show a total of 725 machines confiscated in 951 raids. Some of those raids were on handbooks, he pointed out, but went on to say that fines assessed against gamblers during the period brought $71,400.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Can you give me some suggestions as to what should be said when leaving someone to whom I have just been introduced?

A. "Goodbye, Mrs. Jones. I am very glad to have met you," or, "Goodbye, Mrs. Jones, I hope that I shall see you again soon."

Q. What should be done with the silver when passing one's plate for a second helping?

A. The silver should be placed on the plate, as at the end of a course.

Q. Is it necessary that a girl check her wrap when dining in a hotel, and she wishes to leave the back of her chair, if she wishes?

A. No; she may leave it on the back of her chair, if she wishes.

Q. If a girl knows that a young man does not have much money, would it be all right for her to buy two tickets and invite him to the theater?

A. No; this is not good form and most certainly would not

Fire water does not pay off at the wheel

If you are one of those "two-drinks-don't hurt me" guys, here's something to think about:

The 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, shows that one out of every five drivers involved in fatal motor vehicle accidents in 1947 had been drinking.

Special studies indicate that drivers who indulge in only a few drinks are three or four times more likely to have an accident than those who refrain from drinking if they drive. And drivers who are heavy drinkers are 55 times more likely to have an accident.

The yearbook also points out that one out of every four adult pedestrians killed in traffic accidents last year had been drinking.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

If only we could keep the innocence and faith of our childhood, we are told, we would live happier lives because of it. But child-like faith and innocence alone are not sufficient armor for a world that is full of counter conflict. The more innocent we are, the more passive our faith, the more difficult will be our struggle to keep our place in life.

It is hard to keep faith in a world that lives on the assumption of dog eat dog. A world in which innocence and faith may often be bought for a price. Where financial success, no matter how it may have been obtained, is generally the measure of a man's worth.

Others proved not to have machines, disclaimed ever taking out licenses, or were incorrect addresses. In some instances, the chief added, there was evidence of where a machine "had been" but none when the deputies arrived.

A few proved to be outside of Cook county, though located fairly near the line.

not have faith that we never begin to live until we have passed through death. I have wondered about it all until at times I think it is the natural course of life.

And then I will meet some one who has kept his faith active. Some one who can see good where others see only gloom. Who has remained innocent despite the temptations of life and his knowledge of them. Who, knowing what is wrong and what is right, chooses to do right because it is good. Who realizes that people are weak, forgives them their slights and insults, their hunger for power and gold and the flesh pots of life.

Such a person is not soft nor foolish. They are stronger than most of us. They feel clean and sure, facing life and even death with a calm assurance and inward peace that proves the farce so many of us make of living.

They never mistrust people's intentions, though they may not approve of their actions. They do not fight others—only the evils which others strive to inflict upon them.
